ALEX FITCH ROOM

The Alex Fitch Room is one of the most majestic at Harrow School. Located in the War Memorial Building, the entire contents of the room are older than the building itself. This beautiful room was donated by the Fitch family in memory of their son Alex, an Old Harrovian, who died in the First World War. All proceeds from the hire of this room go towards a Bursary for a boy to attend Harrow School.

EXISTING FURNITURE & DIMENSIONS

The venue includes a large solid dining table placed in the centre of the room. This table seats up to 20 guests along with the grand wooden chairs. All existing furniture in the Alex Fitch Room must stay in position for events.

AV CAPABILITIES

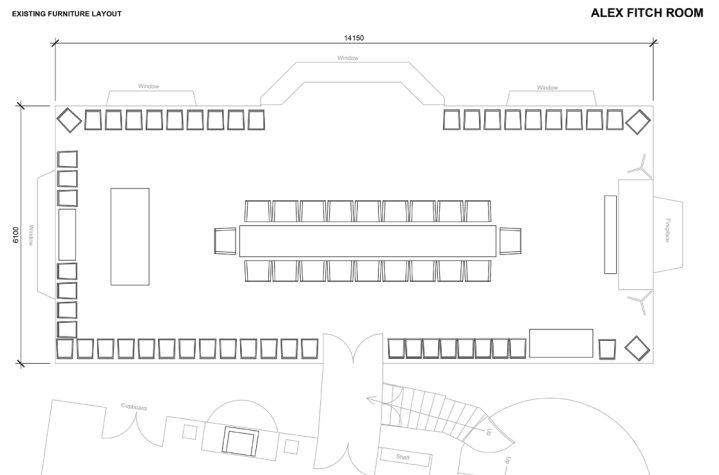

The room itself has no power supply, therefore external suppliers are required to really bring the venue to life, please discuss your requirements with a member of the Events Team.

HISTORY OF THE VENUE

The Alex Fitch Room is decorated with intricate and beautiful panelling from the Elizabethan period and the fireplace dates from the reign of Henry V. The floor is made of decking from H.M.S. Vincent the battleship, which served during the reign of George III. The furniture of the room is from the reign of James I, as is the main dining table. Alex Fitch's portrait hangs above the 600-year-old fireplace with the light above never being put out in respect for the fallen.
